Partners Host Event at Staffing Industry Analysts Executive Forum 2012

Forum is one of the most prominent annual meetings for CEOs, owners, and senior-level executives from the staffing industry

Livingston, N.J., April 19, 2012 – Becker Meisel Partners Martin L. Borosko and David J. Sprong, together with Access Capital, Citrin Cooperman and Loveman Kornreich & Steers, hosted a private bowling party for the attendees of the Staffing Industry Analysts Executive Forum, recently held in Las Vegas, Nevada. The event offered conference-goers a casual networking opportunity over cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and bowling at the Red Rock Lanes at the Red Rock Resort and Casino.

The Staffing Industry Analysts Executive Forum is one of the most prominent annual meetings for CEOs, owners, and senior level executives from the staffing industry. The Forum provides access to industry thinkers, leaders, and innovators, a focus on the staffing industry's strategic issues, developing trends, future opportunities, and current challenges, and an opportunity for informal, peer networking as well as more formal deal-making.*

Becker Meisel offers advice that helps staffing industry entrepreneurs and management avoid liability and improve the bottom line. We put forward sophisticated solutions to staffing companies' most complex legal questions, while simultaneously filling the role of an everyday, trusted advisor, and we deliver these services in an efficient and cost-effective manner.
